Welcome Screen

Hey, Boomers!

A belated 'thanks' to those of you who snowed under the humes-who-think-they're-in-charge with Christmas cards (at least I didn't have to look at their faces for a while!). I've just the thing to help fill that gaping hole, now you're no longer required to burst into another rendition of 'Auld Lang Syne'.

Robotnik's on the rampage (what's new?) in the conclusion to our Sonic story: Badnik's Bridge. It's still not safe to walk those Streets of Rage in the latest episode of The Only Game In Town. Knuckles comes to the end of his Carnival Night Conspiracy, and Marko's still not walking alone, thanks to his magic football!

Especially for those humes who made a resolution to crack that Sonic and Knuckles game, all is finally revealed in part two of the Q Zone Special. And ... there's another Quiz, plus a 'dreamy' Sonic & Tails Pin-Up. Who said the celebrations were over!

Badniks Bridge

PART 2

Script: Nigel Kitching

Art: Casanova & John M. Burns

Lettering: Ellie de Ville

THE NEW MAIN THRUSTER FOR DOCTOR ROBOTNIK'S DAMAGED DEATH EGG SPACE SATELLITE IS BEING TRANSPORTED BY ROAD.

THINGS ARE NOT GOING ACCORDING TO PLAN ON THE EMERALD VALLEY BRIDGE !!!

LOOKS LIKE WE'RE JUST IN TIME, AMY!

THIS MINE, WHICH WAS SET UP BY SONIC, IS POWERFUL ENOUGH TO BLOW UP THE ENTIRE BRIDGE.

UNFORTUNATELY, SONIC'S ESCAPE HAS BEEN PUT ON HOLD.

LISTEN, BOZO, GET US OFF THIS BRIDGE NOW BEFORE THAT TRANSPORTER HITS ONE OF MY EXPLOSIVE CHARGES!

A dramatic comic book panel showing Sonic and Amy on a large, white airplane that is falling out of the sky. The plane is tilted at a steep angle, and a massive explosion is occurring at its base, sending debris and flames into the air. Sonic is perched on the top of the fuselage, holding onto a vertical pole. Amy is in the cockpit, looking out with a determined expression. The background is a chaotic scene of falling debris and a bright, fiery explosion. The overall tone is one of high action and danger.

Whilst out on a sight-seeing tour of downtown Hong Kong before an all star charity game, Shaq meets an old man who sends him on a quest to free the Second World from the evil, Sett Ra, and the loyal Beast. It is known that only the Chosen One can defeat Sett Ra, and so all hope is pinned on Shaq. Well, I've never understood why we need a story for a good beat 'em-up, anyway!

Shaq-Fu has three types of gameplay; duel, tournament or story (in the loosest sense of the word). All three amount to much the same thing - lots of fighting! The tournament mode is best, enabling you to take on up to eight friends in a knockout contest. You can play as any character in either the duel or tournament set-ups and there are plenty of special moves to come to grips with, so just make sure you've got a six button joystick on hand.

There's nothing particularly new here that previous beat 'em-ups haven't already covered. The graphics are colourful, and Shaq moves like the kung-fu expert that I'm sure he is (despite being somewhat better known as a basketball player!).

The game is unlikely to do much to enhance Shaq's reputation, particularly as there is not much on offer for basketball fans. Whilst the gameplay is acceptable and is good to look at, it still lags a long way behind Streetfighter II and Mortal Kombat. That said, Shaq-Fu is far less gory than it's two big name pre-decessors, which makes it marginally more suitable for younger players.

Mega Drive

Electronic Arts have done a good job with the graphics, although there are times when you can see only the players' feet! The gameplay takes time to master, and there's a tendency to go for the ball far too early. As always there are loads of options, one of which is practice with Vic, your coach, who lets you know if your shots are any good with a shake of the head or jubilant raised arms.

You can enter single tournaments, exhibition matches, or the entire tour, which thankfully can be saved along the way. The serve and volley is tough to master, but after a few rallies, you'll be using the entire range of shots - the lob, topspin, underslice and the drop shot. Best of all, you can psyche yourself up by hurling unintelligible abuse at the Umpire!

Finally, the most excellent four-player mode is available with the aid of a multi-tap adaptor. After all, playing a few friends is always more exciting than taking on the computer. International Tour Tennis is definitely recommended. - JF

It's hard to believe that it's 16 years since Star Wars first appeared on cinema screens. Created by the legendary George Lucas, the film has recently been re-released on video and is still considered one of the greatest space productions ever. Crammed with special effects, the storyline revolves around a fight between the Empire (baddies: Darth Vader and the Stormtroopers) and the Rebel Forces (goodies: Luke Skywalker and Obi-Wan Kinobi).

Rebel Assault is based on Star Wars and even includes the famous trench-run. This is where you fly an X-Wing fighter through a 2 metre-wide tunnel to destroy Darth Vader's infamous Death Star. On loading up the CD you're greeted with a spectacular intro-sequence showing some Tie-Fighters battling in space, as well as some not-so-hot digitised shots from the film. The superb theme music, taken from the film, plays throughout and definitely adds to the atmosphere.

Before the game gets underway, you're required to go through four phases of training. This includes flying a T16 Skyhopper through Beggar's Canyon for some trench-run practice and flying through a field of asteroids, trying to dodge them. As Rookie One, it's off to battle with some real enemies. The majority of the levels are similar and have you flying around in your X-Wing shooting Tie-Fighters, although there are varying objectives. There is also a level where you fight two giant AT-AT machines, and another where you're on foot battling with Vader's Stormtroopers. The graphics are on a very high standard, and contain sequences from the film.

On the minus side, it's a shame that the game suffers from a serious problem. For example, when flying through canyon's or the trench levels, the walls are badly digitised and it's sometimes hard to work out where you should turn. Unfortunately, this inevitably leads to a crash and the loss of a life. Another gripe is that the levels are too similar, preventing this from being a superb Star Wars game, leaving it just plain average. - DG

METAL HEAD MADNESS

MEAN MACHINERY LET LOOSE!

Metal Head machines go to work.

One of the first projects detailed for the new Mega Drive 32X add-on was Metal Head. The game is expected to utilise the 32X's considerable powers to maximum ability. Using a superb 3D first person perspective, the game draws on fellow 32X titles, Doom and Virtua Racing Deluxe to inspire a fluid scrolling environment that moves in physical time.

Metal Heads are counter terrorist combat vehicles that you get to control. The game allows you a cockpit view of the action, or you can switch to one of three other views of the conflict. The action is set in the near future where a council of world leaders have assumed control over the entire planet to enforce peace. After initial struggles, peace is won and for five years all is quiet. However, sections of inhabitants become restless and plot terrorist attacks in cities across the world. Only one thing can stop this threat - the Metal Head.

In the course of your missions, Metal Heads are up against enemy forces both conventional and robotic. Padding around urban sprawls, you encounter terrorist jeeps and troop transports that are ably backed up with aircraft cover. Eventually, you come face to face with enemy robot troops of all shapes and sizes, some of which are even based on Metal Head blueprints! Never fear though, because you also come armed to the teeth.

Not even the Terminator would mess with Metal Head!

Your robot will soon sort out the bad guys with either his wide beam laser, chain gun cannon or homing missiles and land mines.

To spice up the action, missions in this game are often against the clock. A high paced hunt and destroy strategy is needed here to crush the rebels before they gain footholds in your city. This game with its roaming robots, terrible terrorists and time bust ng pace looks like the best March release for the 32X yet.

MEAN MACHINES

Do you feel the need for speed? If the answer to this is a quick-fire yes, then hold on to your handlebars 'cause Kawasaki Superbikes are about to pit stop near you. Time Warner's new professional motorbike sim is screeching onto the Mega Drive this February for £39.99, to be followed by a Game Gear version priced £29.99.

This turbo charged racing game features the ride of your life on a 750cc Kawasaki ZXR750R bike. You get to ride in a first person perspective for single racing or with a split screen option for battling pairs. There's also a micked 'Turbo' option that accelerates the graphics if you see yourself as a bit of a 'Mad' Micky Doohan (current superbike world champion).

This game comes complete not only with hair-raising speed, but also gameplay options such as spending your race winnings in the "Kawasaki Team Green Garage" to tweak your machine to go even faster! Races take place on ten tracks, in varying degrees of weather. If you're brave - or just like a massive adrenaline rush - you can even take part in the famous Suzuki eight hour endurance race. This includes dangerous night driving and change-overs if you can't handle it all yourself. So folks, it's time to get on your Kawasaki Superbikes and speed away!

Here comes the rain again.

SHORT BURSTS

February/March with a price yet to be announced, Jelly Boy is the character who is dramatically brought to life after being struck by lightning in Mr Swirley's sweet factory. It's a fun platform adventure set over seven different worlds such as Toy Land, Sand Land and the Undersea Realm. Our hero must collect all of Mr Swirley's favourite toys and puzzles before he can attempt to confront him and make his bid for sweet freedom.

Our wonderful wobbler comes up against traps, secret rooms, teleports and bonus games in his adventures. However, to help him triumph he can transform jelly-like into 27 different objects, including an umbrella, a submarine and a brick! Jelly can also get assistance from Helpy, the indestructible rubber slab, and Harry the dog. This is a game not to be trifled with!

Don't throw a wobbler - it's only Jelly Boy!

TOTAL FOOTBALL

Make it!

Mad as a hatter!

'Total football' was the name given to the type of football that came out of Holland in the 1970's, with Johan Cruyff hailed as the greatest Dutch player around. Now a manager, he is putting this method to work for his club, Barcelona. At the head of the tactics line goes lightning-defence - so let's hope Domark's new Mega Drive game Total Football has this covered.

All weather matches are featured, as is crowd reaction to the play, together with an expected 60 different player movements. However, one new feature to appear in this football game is the option of controllable celebration and disappointment routines. So it could be an Ian Wright boogie after you've scored or a Gazza grimace when you've missed! Out this March at a price to be announced it promises maximum playability and total excitement.

GEEK AT DISNEY WORLD

Anyone lucky enough to be heading off to Florida's Disney World would do well to direct themselves to the Epcot centre there. This part of the theme park deals with futuristic innovations. A new exhibition there is looking at Sega's premier arcade technology. The 'Innovations' display will feature state of the art arcade machines such as, Virtua Formula, Virtua Fighter and the riveting 8-axis ride simulating machines the A8-4's. Forget Mickey Mouse when you can now get in on the next level in arcade action at Disney World.

Time to stop tearing your hair out Boomers, 'cos STC's regular game guru extraordinaire, David Gibbon has the second and concluding part to the Sonic & Knuckles Special. What would you do without him?

SONIC & KNUCKLES SPECIAL

THE BIGGEST ZONE IN THE GAME

The biggest zone in the game containing a number of dangers to be conquered, including deadly red hot Lava. If you take things slowly and carefully you should be okay.

TRICKS

Those deadly spikes come down faster than a bullet. Stand next to the crusher, and just as it's going back up, perform a spin-dash to get safely past.

These nasty devices spray poison in the air which sticks to you. Escape the poison by performing a spin-dash and repeat this to destroy the device.

The only known mushroom to explode! These meanies are notoriously difficult to destroy so it's best to ignore them. If they start flashing, it means they are about to blow, so get away as quickly as possible.

MOVING SPIKES: There are several versions of this and getting past them is all about timing. Get this right and you'll be fine.

DOOR SWITCHES: Located throughout the level. When pressed they open a door allowing you to proceed further.

SPEED TUBES (KNUCKLES ONLY): Hidden behind walls throughout the level. These tubes will transport Knuckles at LIFTS (SONIC ONLY): Allowing Sonic to reach higher and lower platforms, just perform an on-the-spot spin dash to move.

BOSS - ACT ONE: Head in the middle. When the two arms rise, they'll fire a couple of shots at you. These are fairly easy to dodge, so they shouldn't prove too much of a problem. When the arms fall down, spin-dash into one to hurt it. A hand will now come up which should be avoided by running backwards and forwards. When it stops, it will fall flat on the ground. Jump on top of it quickly, then repeat all these actions for victory.

HIDDEN PLACE IN THE LEVEL

KNUCKLES: Get much more the transporter, just head right, stand on top of the transporter, then it's off to the next zone!

SONIC: Keep running right, then jump on top of the transporter. Run right again, until you come face-to-face with Knuckles.

SKY SANCTUARY ZONE - 1 ACT

SONIC: Wait for Knuckles to run right and lower the bridge. Continue right. This level is full of EggRobo machines, so be warned! Make use of the thick white clouds as you can bounce on these. After each boss, try and get as far up as possible.

EVIL SONIC (KNUCKLES ONLY): Jump in the air and allow Robotnik to catch you. You'll now meet the Evil Sonic! When he has his back to you he's about to charge, so get ready and jump over him to the opposite side of the screen. When you get a chance, perform a spin-dash into him, then wait to see what he does next. He gives you plenty of time to react, so make sure you get to the other side of the screen. Repeat to destroy him. However, this guy doesn't die without a fight. When he returns, he'll turn into gold and become more dangerous. Stand at the far left of the screen and dodge his fire (he'll occasionally perform a spin-attack or throw rings). When he turns blue he'll run right. Follow him using a spin-dash, then jump up and hit him just before he lands on the green jewel. Repeat to complete the game as Knuckles!

DEATH EGG ZONE - 2 ACTS

An extra zone that is only accessible playing as Sonic. It's quite a hard level and will take practice to complete.

DIFFICULT PART: AOT 1

When you get struck in a kind of pinball machine, you must turn all the yellow springs into red on the middle, moving object. This will allow you to proceed to the right.

HAZARDS:

Very easy to lose your rings with these posts. Wait until the spike is at his opposite side, then jump onto him.

Although helpful, it's very easy to fall off and lose life. If you want to go up, stand at the left end and as they turn, quickly run up to the top. Stand at the other end if you want to go down.

HINTS

Dotted throughout the level, these push Sonic at super speed.

Jump on this and it'll carry Sonic to the next platform.

SONIC OR KNUCKLES?

Starting from the Lava Reef Zone, S & K can be seen as two different games depending on whether you're playing as Sonic or Knuckles.

Playing as this guy is so much easier. Less end-of-level baddies to deal with plus you get to use all those extra abilities such as gliding and wall-climbing. The game comes to completion on the Sky Sanctuary Zone.

As the blue spiky one, you'll have more work to do, but you'll also get to see more of the game. This includes having a fight with Knuckles in the Hidden Palace and taking part in an extra zone called the Death Egg!

STILL HAVING PROBLEMS?

If you're still having trouble completing S & K then watch out for a Sonic & Knuckles Q & A Special in a future issue of STC. It's still not too late to jot down those niggling problems, so come on Boomers, drop us a line at the usual address.

SPEEDLINES

Sound off to Megadroid about anything you want to do with STC, Sega or the meaning of life as we know it!

Send your letters and drawings to: Speedlines, Sonic The Gambo, 25/31 Tavistock Place, London WC1H 9SU.

Write your name, address and Sega system you use (MD, MCD, MS or GG) clearly on your letter or drawing. Every one printed on this page wins a Segasational prize!

Megadroid regrets that drawings cannot be returned or correspondence entered into.

Hair Today

Dear Megadroid,

I think the best series in STC so far has got to be Knuckles. Also, his hair style looks exactly like my mum's when she gets out of bed in the morning.

Jonathan Wallis, Hainault, Essex. MD owner. Sonic Water Fun Game Winner.

So, your mum's a fiery red-head then, Jonny! As long as your dad has more on top than Doctor Robotnik (baldist comment - Ed).

No eyes and headless!

Mertyn Hellewell, Huddersfield, W. Yorks. MS owner. Sonic Water Fun Game Winner.

Hume Error!
It was obviously all that mulled fernadada over Christmas that muddled the minds of the nemes who think-they're-in-charge. Unfortunately, the letters printed in Speed in issue 40 were repeated from issue 39. Those responsible have been severely reprimanded and have had to sing Auld Lang Syne backwards, whilst standing on one leg.

Prizes to be despatched within approximately 28 days of publication. If you haven't received your prize after that time, please contact the Tomy Care Line direct on the number listed below.

Kitchings Cooking

Dear STC,

Following the release of the Sonic & Knuckles game, are you going to include new Sonic stories featuring the Mushroom Hill, Doomsday and Lava Reef zones? Stephen Turner, Accrington, Lancs. MD owner. Sonic Water Fun Game Winner.

Script-droid (and all-round general clever clogs) Nigel Kitching is turning out new story ideas faster than it takes Robotnik to lose his rag.

Meanwhile, watch out for the 'Mystery of the Sandopolis Zone' starting in STC 47.

Multi-personality!

Lorna McKnight, Loughborough, Leics. MD2 owner. Sonic Water Fun Game Winner.

Major Moaner

Dear STC,

Back in issue 22 your mag was a pile of junk. The fab (ahem!) Sonic strip revealed that Doctor Robotnik had changed into that weed from the rubbish cartoon series. I was dead disappointed as I was hoping for an evil, twisted robot or a monster hell-bent on beating Sonic to a pulp. Finally, I don't agree with those readers who liked the Tails series - I thought it was a pile of poop! Ian Fielding, Waterlooville, Hants. Sonic Water Fun Game Winner.

Nice to know that you feel comfortable enough with STC to express your innermost feelings, Ian. Next time, keep them to yourself!
